princeton

PRINCETON PUBLIC LIBRARY PRESENTS

Local Author Day

VIRTUAL WORKSHOPS FOR WRITERS

Write Your Own Thriller

Wednesday, Oct. 21, 6 p.m.

New York Times bestselling author Kate White shares her nine strategies for creating an "unputdownable" suspense novel.

On Zoom; register for link.

Your Path to Publishing

Friday, Oct. 23, 6 p.m.

Next steps after writing and polishing your manuscript can feel overwhelming. Audrey Barbakoff demystifies publishing pathways and helps you decide which is right for you.

On Zoom; register for link.

AUTHOR FAIR

Saturday, Oct. 17

10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Published local authors of fiction, nonfiction and poetry display and sign copies of their books and interact with visitors. Community Room

Scan code or visit the library's website for details and a list of participating authors.

Opinions expressed during programming at Princeton Public Library do not necessarily reflect the views of the library, its staff, trustees or supporters. Printed on 100% recycled paper.